

Course Setters Notes - Wed Nov 2nd.

Gully Gully Gosh

Allow ten minutes walk to the start. Safety bearing east to a fence then south to car park

Moderate courses – maps available at start

For moderate enthusiasts you will find that every control is placed in a vague gully – a great way to improve your contour reading and to read the subtle spurs and gullies without the risk of getting truly lost – (there are plenty of safety catching features such as tracks or fences). There will be three moderate courses. Moderate 3 is shorter than usual and designed to avoid all fences and hills. Moderate 1 is a bit longer and harder than usual so start by 6.10 pm for this one. Watch out for the Halloween control – a fake one to lead you astray !

Easy and Very Easy courses – maps available at registration

These are a bit harder than usual as for a change they use a different area to the usual. So don't try a level above your usual today. If following a creek make sure you follow the creek.

Wildlife

With abundant birds, animals, waterholes and verdant green vegetation Campbell Park is looking beautiful for Twilight Wed 2nd Nov. It is even too early in the season for grass seeds and thistles and the ground is deliciously soft. David Poland has designed a range of courses from easy to challenging, short to long. Take your pick.
