Risk Statement: You should recognise that orienteering is a recreational activity that may involve significant risk of physical harm and has certain inherent and obvious risks due to its conduct in both urban and natural environments. Included in these risks are injury due to: rough terrain and obstacles; the effects of heat, cold or other adverse weather conditions; plant and animal life; vehicular traffic; and remoteness to medical services or evacuation difficulties should you become disabled. You should recognise that the enjoyment of orienteering is derived in part from the inherent and obvious risks associated with the activity. You should also be aware that there is no personal accident insurance on your participation in the sport and you participate at your own risk.
